

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention provides binocular eyeglasses that have linear polarizing lenses to be employed by a golfer to examine the surface of a putting green as an aid in deciding the speed and direction for a putting stroke. The planes of maximum transmission for the lenses are preferably complementary 45° to horizontal. A modified use and a modified embodiment provide for alternate angles of inclination relative to horizontal.